TE RONGOROA SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATION FORM

The name of this programme stems from the western facing side of the totara, Te Rongoroa. This side of the rākau receives less direct sunlight than the eastern facing side, Te Rongonui, where the sap flows faster as the totara grows. When the rākau was selected to make a canoe, it was felled in a manner that left Te Rongo-nui facing upward as this side presented for easier adzing. Te Rongoroa, being the denser side of the tree, became the riu (hull) of the waka.
